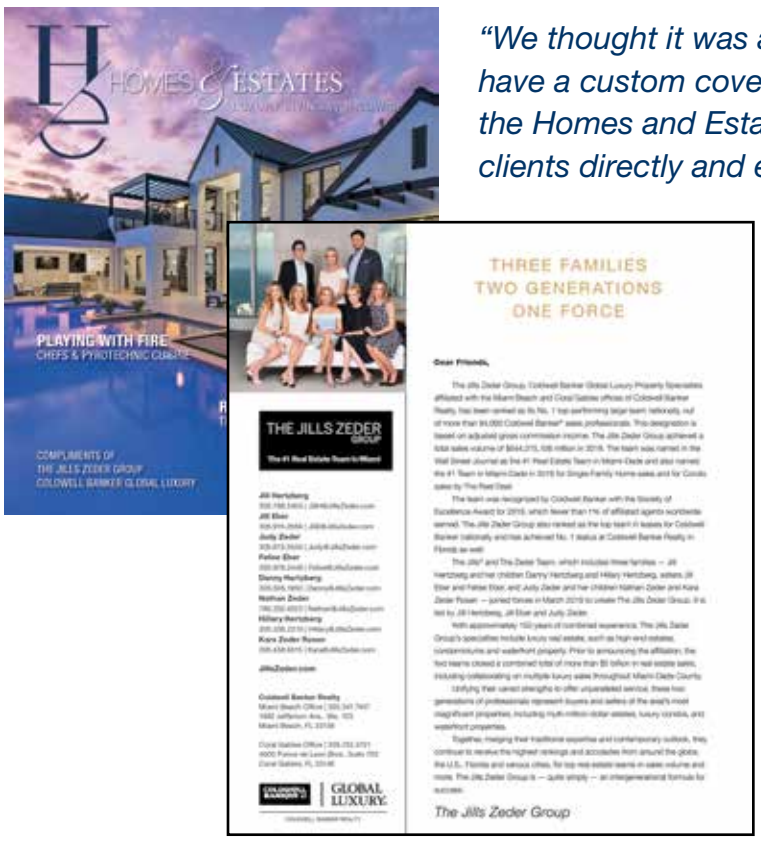
HOMES & ESTATES

the place where Coldwell Banker Global Luxury agents go to be seen!

Don't take our word for it… see what the world's Number One Coldwell Banker Team and the world's Number One Coldwell Banker Agent have to say about it!



"We thought it was a great opportunity and value to have a custom cover and brand The Jills Zeder Group in the Homes and Estates publication, while reaching our clients directly and exposing their properties to a wide audience of qualified domestic and international luxury buyers. It's about constantly being in communication with our clients and being diverse in how we are marketing and promoting their properties — whether it is in print, digital, social media, web or virtual mediums."

"It is a great marketing tool to take with you when you go on a listing appointment. Everyone wants to see their home in print. I also think it looks very chic to send the Homes & Estates magazine directly to your clients. It is a fantastic way to let potential buyers and sellers know you are front and center in the marketplace. In this environment, it is a great way to get not only your name out, but to show your owners that you are still a major player in this market."
